Micro-credential Certificate: 10- Hour Teaching English Online to Groups

Course Description – This is a reading and discussion-based course on effective, current methodology for teaching English online to speakers of other languages with emphasis given to working with students from countries where English is not the dominant language –an English as a foreign language context. While the emphasis is on practical activities and their application, other aspects of English language teaching, such as applicable theories in linguistics and education in the online classroom, will also be addressed. This course is designed for current online teachers who are transitioning from teaching one-on-one classes to group classes or online teachers working with groups of students looking for new skills and techniques. Most current online teachers have experience teaching one-on-one classes online, but the industry seems to be trending towards schools catering for group classes. While sound teaching practices apply to both one-on-one classes and small groups, online classroom management techniques significantly differ. Teachers who can demonstrate that they can effectively teach group classes online will have an advantage when it comes to landing a job or attracting students to their own school. They will also be much more effective teachers in an online group class setting.	Course Content – By the end of the course, graduates will have covered the following modules: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Technical Requirements and Considerations 2. General Group Teaching Principles and Online Class Types 3. Teaching Different Class Types 	Course Objectives – Upon successful completion of the course, graduates are able to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Describe the hardware and software required to teach online group classes successfully 2. Explain how to apply strategies and techniques for using technology tools to manage and run online group classes 3. Describe how to run reading and writing classes with online groups 4. Select and use a variety of tools and strategies to manage, facilitate participation, and increase motivation in an online group class 5. Identify different types of group online class formats 6. Describe strategies to manage and prepare for different class types
